

Hawaiian Gazette

PUBLISHED BY
ROBERT CRIEVE,
Every Wednesday Morning.
AT FIVE DOLLARS PER ANNUM.
PAID IN ADVANCE.
Foreign Subscribers, $7.00 to $10.00.
which includes postage prepaid.

Office.—In the new Post Office Building
Merchant Street, Honolulu, H. I.

A Literary Curiosity.

The following is a most remarkable compilation. It was written at the beginning of a remarkable period in our Republication. The initial capitals spell "My house is in the glorious cause of Christ." The words in italics were read from top to bottom and bottom to top, forming the Lord's Prayer complete.]

Maleka leaves the gospel reader, our Father King.

"With thy grace, dear Father, from above,

From us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka reads all the religious of our country dead.

Indeed he has, first a man and then was crucified.

Now in the world we know,

Not in the heavenly kingdom own.

With him to them to all our care,

Embrace in life and all that's thine,

Leaving the very best in death;

So that, we will be soon from earth to heaven;

In such great and boundless love and benignity,

Oh! as thou art, dear Father to thy people,

Save us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka leaves the gospel reader, our Father King.

"With thy grace, dear Father, from above,

From us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka reads all the religious of our country dead.

Indeed he has, first a man and then was crucified.

Now in the world we know,

Not in the heavenly kingdom own.

With him to them to all our care,

Embrace in life and all that's thine,

Leaving the very best in death;

So that, we will be soon from earth to heaven;

In such great and boundless love and benignity,

Oh! as thou art, dear Father to thy people,

Save us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka leaves the gospel reader, our Father King.

"With thy grace, dear Father, from above,

From us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka reads all the religious of our country dead.

Indeed he has, first a man and then was crucified.

Now in the world we know,

Not in the heavenly kingdom own.

With him to them to all our care,

Embrace in life and all that's thine,

Leaving the very best in death;

So that, we will be soon from earth to heaven;

In such great and boundless love and benignity,

Oh! as thou art, dear Father to thy people,

Save us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka leaves the gospel reader, our Father King.

"With thy grace, dear Father, from above,

From us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka reads all the religious of our country dead.

Indeed he has, first a man and then was crucified.

Now in the world we know,

Not in the heavenly kingdom own.

With him to them to all our care,

Embrace in life and all that's thine,

Leaving the very best in death;

So that, we will be soon from earth to heaven;

In such great and boundless love and benignity,

Oh! as thou art, dear Father to thy people,

Save us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka leaves the gospel reader, our Father King.

"With thy grace, dear Father, from above,

From us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka reads all the religious of our country dead.

Indeed he has, first a man and then was crucified.

Now in the world we know,

Not in the heavenly kingdom own.

With him to them to all our care,

Embrace in life and all that's thine,

Leaving the very best in death;

So that, we will be soon from earth to heaven;

In such great and boundless love and benignity,

Oh! as thou art, dear Father to thy people,

Save us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka leaves the gospel reader, our Father King.

"With thy grace, dear Father, from above,

From us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka reads all the religious of our country dead.

Indeed he has, first a man and then was crucified.

Now in the world we know,

Not in the heavenly kingdom own.

With him to them to all our care,

Embrace in life and all that's thine,

Leaving the very best in death;

So that, we will be soon from earth to heaven;

In such great and boundless love and benignity,

Oh! as thou art, dear Father to thy people,

Save us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka leaves the gospel reader, our Father King.

"With thy grace, dear Father, from above,

From us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka reads all the religious of our country dead.

Indeed he has, first a man and then was crucified.

Now in the world we know,

Not in the heavenly kingdom own.

With him to them to all our care,

Embrace in life and all that's thine,

Leaving the very best in death;

So that, we will be soon from earth to heaven;

In such great and boundless love and benignity,

Oh! as thou art, dear Father to thy people,

Save us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka leaves the gospel reader, our Father King.

"With thy grace, dear Father, from above,

From us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka reads all the religious of our country dead.

Indeed he has, first a man and then was crucified.

Now in the world we know,

Not in the heavenly kingdom own.

With him to them to all our care,

Embrace in life and all that's thine,

Leaving the very best in death;

So that, we will be soon from earth to heaven;

In such great and boundless love and benignity,

Oh! as thou art, dear Father to thy people,

Save us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka leaves the gospel reader, our Father King.

"With thy grace, dear Father, from above,

From us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka reads all the religious of our country dead.

Indeed he has, first a man and then was crucified.

Now in the world we know,

Not in the heavenly kingdom own.

With him to them to all our care,

Embrace in life and all that's thine,

Leaving the very best in death;

So that, we will be soon from earth to heaven;

In such great and boundless love and benignity,

Oh! as thou art, dear Father to thy people,

Save us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka leaves the gospel reader, our Father King.

"With thy grace, dear Father, from above,

From us with houses for ever, God of Love."

Answers our great to love, Christ we pray,

"To us with houses for ever, O King of Kings."

Maleka reads all the religious of our country dead.

Indeed he has, first a man and then was crucified.

Now in the world we know,

Not in the heavenly kingdom own.

With him to them to all our care,

Embrace